

FAMILY TRUST ADVISORY AND IDENTITY PLANNING

Family trusts and identity planning are core complementary tools for wealth management in high-net-worth families. The former involves the settlor transferring assets to a trustee for management, who holds the wealth on behalf of the beneficiaries, with the core objectives of achieving asset inheritance, risk isolation, and protection. The latter, on the other hand, precisely meets needs by optimizing the legal identities, tax residences, and other aspects of family members.

Identity planning defines the operational framework for the trust in terms of tax burdens and judicial jurisdiction, while the trust relies on this framework to achieve wealth goals. The in-depth integration of the two can enhance the asset's risk resistance, significantly optimize tax costs, break down cross-border barriers for smooth intergenerational inheritance, and facilitate the flexible flow of global assets. It is a key strategy to address multiple challenges such as taxation, legal, and geopolitical issues, and to ensure the long-term survival of wealth.
